

ABSTRACT

An apparatus and method to reduce the initialization time of a system is disclosed. In one embodiment, the invention stores metadata for data in a cache memory in a partitioned section of a non-volatile storage media. This allows multiple metadata entries to be read in one operation, thereby improving system performance.

Patent 8,255,630